

SCOORA

by Hoffmann & Kahleiss Design

Outstanding craftsmanship and refined design

Overview

DEDON introduces SCOORA by Hoffmann & Kahleiss Design, a refined yet playful Lantern that brings craftsmanship and design to the outdoors. The collection name SCOORA is a variation of the name Zora, which in different languages and cultures has meanings such as sky, sun, sunrise or shell. Turned to the sky, the Lantern resembles an open shell and creates a soothing, atmospheric light. Wrapped in an organic silhouette and an intricate weave that comes in two colorways, this vibrantly textured lighting collection adds a unique ambience to any setting.

Inspiration

Developed by Hamburg-based Hoffmann & Kahleiss Design, SCOORA “unifies motifs found in nature and dramatic, gestural forms to create a splendid lighting experience,” explains co-founder Birgit Hoffmann. Elaborating on how SCOORA embodies the holistic spirit of DEDON, she states, “We wanted to inspire a sense of comfort and refuge with SCOORA’s large format... our focus on this project has been on unlocking the potential of different weaves, on finding a natural design language which strikes harmony with the outdoors.”

Characteristics

The organic shape of SCOORA imbues almost any space with tranquility and elegance. Sensuous, soft and translucent, the luminaire's sumptuous weave invites to touch and creates a dazzling interplay of light and shadow. Standing on a solid, powder-coated aluminum base, SCOORA acts as the focal point of an outdoor setting. The colorways 'willow touch' and 'liana touch', elegantly complement the DEDON collections. SCOORA comes with either an LED fixture or a candle holder.

Quotations

"We were constantly surprised by the sheer skill and versatility of DEDON's master weavers, and I really think that level of passion and precision which our team worked with shows in the product," says Christoph Kahleyss, co-founder of Hoffmann & Kahleyss Design. "SCOORA is just at home on a garden patio as it would on a spacious hotel terrace. The collection provides the right ambiance for when you want to gather with friends for dinner, drinks or dancing in the evening."
